System, Software and Methods For Biomarker Identification

Abstract

5   The invention provides a method, system and software to screen for, identify and validate biomarkers that are predictive of a biological state, such as a cell state and/or patient status.